

Our Coaching Proposition

At LMH Services, we believe that value-added coaching addresses your complexity without being complicated. In particular, our brand of coaching promotes the integration of authenticity, action orientation, and alignment that you need to inspire and energize your workforce.

Authenticity

While certain competencies are commonly accepted as core leadership abilities, there are many ways to express those skills.

Action Orientation

Leaders seek coaching to enhance their effectiveness and accelerate their learning. Effective learning involves taking skillful, informed action.

Alignment

All leaders lead in the context of their organization's culture and the current environment.

We ensure that our coaching partnerships support your specific objectives within your organization's unique culture. To discuss customized coaching solutions, contact us

Print full article in pdf format

Coaching for Leaders and Teams

How you lead is as unique as your fingerprints.

Just as there is no one 'right' approach to leadership, coaching cannot be "one size fits all." And, while you can't change your fingerprints, you can shape and sharpen your leadership style.

For individual leaders as well as teams, our brand of coaching promotes the integration of authenticity, action orientation, and alignment that you need to inspire and energize your workforce.

Individual Coaching

Team Coaching

Contact us for an in-depth discussion of coaching approaches designed for your unique interests.